

Churchill Declares Allies Planning Great Offensives During Next Nine Months

work out these schemes in detail and put them into operation." Mr. Churchill disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt had been willing to go as far as Khartoum, Egypt, in order that a tripartite conference might be held with Premier Stalin in attendance.

But Mr. Churchill added that Stalin could not let his host, even for a single day.

In speaking of Mr. Roosevelt's Journey, Mr. Churchill spoke of the president's physical disability which he so heroically surmounted.

He said that although Stalin was unable to attend the conference, "I assure the house that our duty to aid in the utmost in our power the magnificent and tremendous effort of Russia and try to draw the enemy from the Russian front was accepted as the first object of the combined U-boat warfare were met."

Mr. Churchill said that at the Casablanca conference he renewed Britain's promise "to continue the war against Japan to the point of unconditional surrender should the war in Europe finish before."

He said he had offered to embody this in a "special treaty," but President Roosevelt declined, saying that the word of Britain was quite enough for him.

SURE BEST BEING DONE

"When I look at all that Russia is doing and the vast achievements of Soviet arms, I am sure that I am well below the level of events if I were not sure in my heart and conscience that everything in human power is being done to bring British and American forces into contact with the enemy with the utmost speed and energy and on the largest scale."

Referring to his conference at Adana with President Ismet Inönü of Turkey, Mr. Churchill said "it is no part of our policy to get Turkey into the war, but it is our policy to ensure that the word of Britain and to all the United Nations."

"I made no request to Turkey except to get her permanent war organization sitting in Ankara to proceed forward with the improvement of communications and, by reception of new weapons, to bring Turkey's army up to the highest pitch of efficiency."

ALEXANDER'S ANSWER

Referring to his visit to Tripoli, the Prime Minister recalled a directive which he gave Gen. Sir Harold Alexander last August and said he now had received the following reply:

"Sir, the orders you gave me on Aug. 15, 1942, have been completely filled. The enemy, together with his equipment, have been completely eliminated from Egypt, Cirenaica, Libya and Tripolitania. I now await your further instructions."

"Obviously," Mr. Churchill commented amid the laughter of the house, "We shall have to think of something else."

"And indeed this is one of the most detailed matters we discussed at Casablanca."

AFRICAN LANDING

He said that in landing in French North Africa the Allies lost less shipping than actually fell into their hands.

He disclosed that nearly 500,000 men had been successfully landed. Mr. Churchill mentioned the situation in Tunisia, commenting: "Before they reach the battlefield the enemy lose one-quarter to one-third of everything they bring across the sea."

R. S. TWITTEY

Production for war purposes in the west in eastern Canada today, according to R. S. Twitney, manager of The Army Navy Store here, on his return to Edmonton recently. Mr. Twitney, who has been on a buying trip to eastern markets, was accompanied by Mr. L. Bolcan, former manager of the Army Navy Store in Vancouver, and B. W. Chadwick, general manager of the Army & Navy Mail Order Dept., Regina.

Eastern manufacturers are concentrating on winter merchandise, and civilian merchants "seems to be drying up," Mr. Twitney stated in an interview. He anticipates more and more shortages in civilian requirements this year, entailing further personal sacrifices on the part of the Canadian householder.

Government action has been successful in coping with attempts to establish "black markets" in this country, he said. During his visit in the east, Mr. Twitney witnessed one of the worst storms in the east's history.

He said "I would pay us to lose two airplanes to one to wear down the German air force and draw it away from the Russian front—but actually the results are very nearly the other way around."

The prime minister appealed to all patriotic men on both sides of the Atlantic to stamp their feet on mischief makers and sowers of discord wherever they may be found, and let the great machines roll into battle under the best possible conditions for our success."

FAR EAST PLANNING

He told the house Field Marshal Sir John Dill and Lt.-Gen. Henry H. Arnold had conferred with Gen. Chiang Kai Shek in Chungking and with Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell in India.

The Chinese commander-in-chief expressed satisfaction "about strong additional help that will be provided for China at this stage of her long-drawn, unending struggle," Mr. Churchill said.

He added that Chinese "long-term plans for future action in the Far East."

The Prime Minister told the house that for the time being, "Our Atlantic war effort is confined to operations particularly in Burma to open the Burma road to give what can be given to the Chinese."

LAUDS PACIFIC VICTORIES

The prime minister congratulated the United States on its victory at Guadalcanal in the Solomons and expressed admiration for the hard work and courage of the American forces who took Buna in New Guinea and "slighted the last of its defenders."

He said Gen. Douglas MacArthur had made a "brilliant use of aircraft to solve problems of transport, reinforcements, supplies and munitions. This was a prominent feature of MacArthur's operations and should be carefully studied by all concerned in the technical conduct of war."

The prime minister said the situation in Cairo as he found it during his visit last month was greatly different than in last August. "Now the desert army was bewildered and dispirited," he said, "the enemy was 60 miles from Alexandria, I had to make a number of drastic changes in the high command."

CHANGES VINDICATED

"These changes have been vindicated in their results. In a week we saw a surprising effect on the desert armies by Gen. Montgomery and by the orders he gave and upon the whole situation by the appointment of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander as commander-in-chief in the Middle East."

"Everywhere in Egypt there is a feeling that Britain has kept her word, that we have been a faithful ally and that we have preserved the Nile Valley and its cities and villages and fertile lands from the horrors of invasion."

The prime minister called the "magnificent city and harbor of Tripoli" the "first Italian city to be delivered by British arms from the grip of the Axis."

ITALIANS ENTHUSIASTIC

"Naturally there was lively enthusiasm among the Italian people," he said, "I can hardly do justice to the effusiveness of the demonstration of which I was the fortunate object."

Touching upon the comparatively small number of British army in recent weeks, the prime minister pointed out that the British army had made heavy demolitions and blockings in Tripoli harbor and consequently Gen. Montgomery had to be supplied from the distant bases of Cairo, Alexandria and Benghazi.

He said the troops in the desert have style and air.

"The New Zealand divisions paraded after their ordeal in the desert as though they had come out of Wellington barracks and there was a happy look of just and sober pride which comes from victory and triumph after toil."

Fighting men of democracy feel they are coming into their own," he said.

Six Turin Raids Totally Destroy Big Motor Works

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(CP)—The Lanier Motor Works which employed 4,500 men and turned out 120 per cent of Italy's total output of trucks, was destroyed in six R.A.F. raids on Turin near the end of last year, the air ministry announced today.

The air ministry and the ministry of economic warfare said pictures taken by reconnaissance planes proved together a complete record of the "devastation" of Turin.

War News Summary

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11

Russia: The great German base at Kharkov appeared to be threatened as the Red army stormed within 22 miles of the city and Stockholm reports the Nazis were evacuating the key steel centre. Stockholm heard that Russian shock troops were attacking within six to 10 miles of the city while the Red army's big siege guns rained destruction on the German garrison.

At the same time, other Soviet columns were reported tightening the siege around 250,000 German troops and their satellites in the Caucasus. Calling across the Moscow-Berlin railway, below Novosibirsk, 18 miles north-east of the city, and fighting their way into a series of strong Nazi fortifications.

North Africa: The British Eighth Army is hammering the Afrika Korps well inside Tunisia today with artillery and armored cars.

The Middle Eastern command announced that the British Eighth Army is in contact with the Afrika Korps east of Bengard. This point is 20 miles inland, Tunisia and 50 miles from the Mareh line.

The Afrika Korps is retreating, at least along the coastal sector. There the Middle Eastern Command says artillery duels are taking place. On the southern front, which may extend for 20 miles into the desert, armored car patrols are harassing the enemy.

Pacific Area: Australian troops in the jungles of northeastern New Guinea have pushed a Japanese column back six miles in a sharp engagement. The action occurred between Wau, which the Allies held, and Jap-held Salamaua, 31 miles to the northeast. However, there is no indication whether the Japanese are launching a new offensive in that area. For the first time in many weeks the Allied command reported only light air activity. One enemy bomber attacked New Britain while a medium bomber raided the Kai Islands and Australia's New Guinea.

The sinking of two Jap destroyers and a transport vessel. Allied airmen has been destroyed as only a preliminary blow. A big sea shore, the Solomon area, it is believed, will follow. As yet there has been no hint from the American navy, which usually post-date reports of such battles. And some observers caution that the Jap fleet may still be waiting for Allied strength.

Actress Is Given Suspended Term On Gun Charge

SA FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Madge Bellamy nearly collapsed yesterday after she was given a six-month jail sentence for violating the California gun law, but the judge quickly ordered "sentence suspended" and the former star of silent films recovered. She fired two shots toward a man named Murphy, a San Francisco lumberman Jan. 18 because she said, he was married another woman.

German Troops Take Positions In West Europe

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 11.—(AP)—German troops have taken up defensive positions in fortified areas of western Europe because their military leadership expects a large-scale Anglo-American invasion as soon as possible.

"It is evident the Allies will try an invasion as soon as possible before the Russian offensive loses momentum," the correspondent quoted them as saying.

He added that "it shouldn't be surprising if the invasion occurs at points where the biggest German U-boat bases are situated on the Atlantic coast."

He claimed that fortification work is being rushed day and night, with a highly developed system of highways built so mobile forces could be speed to critical points.

Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt finished a tour of inspection of French coastal defenses on the Atlantic coast of the Mediterranean, the report said.

Desertions Among Seamen Delaying U.S. War Cargoes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Edward J. Shaughnessy, deputy immigration commissioner, told the house of representatives immigration committee yesterday that vital cargoes of military supplies are being delayed because of increasing desertions among alien seamen in United States ports.

The immigration official attributed the desertions to the "hazards of the sea," and is better pay in the ships.

After hearing his testimony the committee approved a measure under which deserting alien men would be deported to Britain if governments to which the seamen owe allegiance have their headquarters in Great Britain.

Two Defendants In Riot Trials Reported Freed

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(CP)—The German radio said last night that two defendants in the trial of the 1936-37 London riots, who were reported to be freed from prison.

The two men had been held at Brixton Prison near Vauxhall since February, 1937. The broadcast said the two men were released after they held either in Vichy French or German prisons inside the former premier, Edouard Daladier, Fernand and Leon Blum, and Gen. Maurice Gamelin, former chief of the Allied command-in-chief, and Georges Mandel, former minister of the interior.

Reforms Needed to Combat Unemployment After War Are Reported in Britain

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(CP)—Complete overhaul of taxation methods, reversal of the British government's monetary policy during boom and slump and adoption of social service recommendations Sir William Beveridge has submitted to parliament, highlighted suggestions for alleviating post-war unemployment in a report issued by one of the world's biggest commercial and industrial councils. The report was prepared by Lever Brothers and Unilever Ltd.

In future the unemployment bill would have to be fought with a galaxy of measures and to obtain co-ordination international councils would have to be formed, it said. These would need international secretariats in which the various governments would be permanently represented. International agreements will have to be concluded, superseding the league-like agreements.

"The prevention of social unrest is a paramount condition of lasting international peace," the report said.

VITAL PROBLEM

One great problem to be dealt with by international agreement was C.I.O., announced last night, the production and prices of primary raw materials, it suggested. The victory of raw material producing countries had played an important part in the creation of boom and depression.

"Social security cannot be attained only by legislation fixing minimum wages, unemployment pay and old age pensions any more than security against invasion can be had by building a Maginot line," the report said.

"The admirable scheme to secure freedom from want contained in the Beveridge report can work only if the national economy produces in continually increasing quantities those articles necessary to give everybody the necessities of life, and those amenities of that life that make a part of modern civilization."

In the past, the government's policy was to keep the price of a higher rate during depression and at a lower rate during waves of prosperity, it continued. The right policy should be the reverse.

DIVIDE BUDGET

It suggested that part of the problem would be solved by splitting the budget into two parts, one containing the standing expenditure that should be met annually out of current revenues and the other containing the capital expenditure which would be met by borrowing.

Big New Corvettes Known as Frigates

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—(CP)—The designation frigate now has been officially adopted by the navy, faster and more powerful corvettes which Canada is sending to sea and building for the United Nations.

It is understood that the new name represented a victory for Canadian naval authorities. They are said to have had to persuade the British Admiralty to accept the new designation, since the new ships were replacing the first corvettes built in Canadian yards.

The name frigate was first used for ships in war by the Portuguese in the 16th and 17th centuries. Later the French and British adopted it to designate a definite class of warship—ships next in class to ships of the line. The frigate was used for cruising and scouting and carried anywhere from 20 to 30 guns.

Ontario Is Planning New Wheat Program

TORONTO, Feb. 11.—(CP)—A new five-year program for improvement of winter wheat in Ontario will be undertaken, immediately Agriculture Minister P. M. Dewar last night told the annual banquet of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association here. The work will be directed by W. H. Waddell of the Wheat Lab Laboratory in Winnipeg, in co-operation with Dr. G. L. MacIsaac of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, said Mr. Dewar.

Even the Nazis, with their vaunted production and organizational skills, supply uniforms in only one quantity to beat off General Winter in their Russian campaigns. Reports and pictures such as the one below tell the world the misery of the ordinary, poorly-clad German soldier caught in the cross-fire of Russian arms and the Russian Winter.

The Canadian soldier, thanks to the foresight and skill of Canada's military ordnance experts and the Munitions and Supply Department, is the smartest-looking, most comfortable-clad soldier in the world.

This is the reason why you may have to wait a little longer than usual when ordering your civilian Tip Top clothes. Nothing more hinder, to the slightest degree, the ceaseless flow of uniforms for Canada's fighting men. We at Canadian Tailors "hold the line," realise this and would not have it otherwise. You can help this situation by anticipating your needs and placing your order early.

SERVING THE FINEST ARMED FORCES IN THE WORLD

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Must Pay for Mistakes More Dearly Than Sins

Husband With New Job Out-of-Town Cannot Always Take Wife With Him Immediately

Dear Miss Dix: When I was 14 years old I got married to a man who has been a good kind husband to me, and I have a daughter who is now 9 years old. Six months ago I met a man with whom I fell in love deeply in love. He is now living with me and I can't keep him. I feel I can't be with him, but if I leave my husband I will be giving up my little girl, and I can't bear the thought of that.

I know I made a mistake in marrying so young, but must I pay for the rest of my life?

MISERABLE. Answer: I am afraid so. It has been said that we have to pay for our mistakes more dearly than we do for our sins, certainly this is true of marriage. The wickedest woman in the world is not punished as severely for her misdeeds as is the innocent and unsuspecting little girl who wanders into marriage the wrong man.

I think that there is nothing else in life so pathetic as to find a practically every unhappy marriage is the result of a mistake. An adolescent boy and girl rush into marriage too soon and are tired of each other almost before they are in their marriage license has dried young people making a passing fancy for a lifetime passion.

Girls marry drunkards or philanderers by which they have some time. Boys marry girls out of their own class believing that their love will cover the lack of the girl's education and breeding. Countless marriages are entered into under the delusion that love is enough and that if they can only together they won't mind being hungry and cold and sabbily and spending their time in a never-ending battle.

Such for these mistakes, entered into with such hope, such faith, such good intentions, they pay with long years of misery, of heartache and sorrow.

Smart Accessories in Military Mood
By ALICE BROOKS

WIFE CANNOT GO. Dear Miss Dix: We have been married two years. In that time we have never been separated. Now my husband is going to get a job out of town. He wants to go, but I don't want to go with him. I will not agree to that, as I should go to his home where he will be able to take care of me. Please advise. A WIFE.

ANSWER. Certainly, you can go. As a general principle, it is advisable that a wife should stay with her husband. But if you are a woman, "whether thou shalt go or not," it is up to you. If you are going with him or not, it is up to you. If you are going with him or not, it is up to you.

And the wife should use some discretion and common sense about deciding this matter. If the husband is going to a new place to take a job with him, it is unadvisable if he has no plan to take his wife with him. It is certainly cramping his life and making his chance of making a success by insisting on his going.

One of the big headaches of this is the wives who, with their husbands, have left comfortable homes near their families and friends to follow their husbands to the training camp where they have had to live in trailers, or hastily thrown together barracks, or crowded apartments where they have had none of the comforts or conveniences to which they were accustomed.

Many wives think this shows their devotion to their husbands, but if so, it is a selfish devotion because it has added immeasurably to the anxieties and worries of the husbands. They have plenty of trials and tribulations, without having the family burden added to them.

As a matter of fact, there are no wives of their husbands go so far up as they do with those who tag them everywhere they go, and who never let them have any freedom of action. So with a husband, as with anyone else, it is matters for a wife to be asked before she invites herself to go along with him.

Points For Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

This Mother: "You simply must learn to work your arithmetic faster. Your teacher told me you were going to fail if you don't speed up. I'd be so embarrassed to have a child of mine fail."

Not This Mother: "I am often called upon to interpret children to their teachers as to why teachers interpret about work to the parents."

Your Baby And Mine
By MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

It is hard, at best, in a short article to express oneself in a way that no one ever can misunderstand. In mentioning your child's column I did not mean that anyone would interpret it to mean that I favored universal military training from infancy on up!

My dear Mr. Elder, I read the article with much interest. I saw what you said about children playing with toys and I think it was exactly right. We have too many of these toys that are made of wood and are not safe for children to play with.

"Now, I have a question to ask. Despite his age I cannot care of wetting the bed. I do not give him much liquid at his last meal and he has had a urine test and it is all right."

This is bladder control and usually has nothing to do with the condition of the kidneys. It is possible that he might stay dry through the night if you give him less liquid at his last meal (say an hour or two) instead of waiting until you were ready to go to bed.

While it is not wise to pry a child with milk and water if he has poor control, it is also unwise to deny him milk. His evening milk can be served in the form of a custard or junket and he can have some water. Then an hour or so he will be ready for attention and might manage fairly well until you went to bed and then the rest of the night.

A safe food at bedtime, such as a sandwich with lettuce salad, butter, or a salty fish or ham, will be followed by a good night's sleep. Once the habit is established you might find it could get along without it.

Control is as much a matter of age and the development of the genital-urinary organs as it is of indifference toward being wet. Children are never comfortable when dry. Of course they have been accustomed to wetting since they were born and they have to lose that habit. It is not unusual for this to continue until the fourth year.

Mrs. B.M.E.—There is probably something that could be improved in the manner of your child's wetting. It is a waste of time if this is responsible for the ammonia-smelling urine. You may have my letter, but please send me two to Nine Months.

"Vitamin D enables the body to use calcium and phosphorus in building strong bones and teeth. This vitamin may be secured in two ways. The first way is by exposing the uncovered skin of the body to the ultra violet rays in sunlight. Under these conditions you will be able to make vitamin D for yourself. However, during the winter very few of us have the opportunity of securing enough sunlight to manufacture all of the vitamin D needed for optimum health."

The second way of securing the vitamin is by taking foods containing it. The following are some of the best sources of this vitamin: cod liver oil, egg yolk, milk, and fish liver oil.

On the other hand, when plenty of calcium is provided together with sufficient vitamin D during the growing period the bones and teeth develop normally. The jaw bones are large enough to accommodate the teeth without crowding. The teeth are evenly placed, and are hard, strong and white. The enamel and dentine are smooth and thick, and are densely calcified. Both the jaw and teeth are well-formed.

In the case of the adult, the lack of the necessary vitamin D apparently encourages tooth decay. Many persons who are going to fill a dental bill could have prevented this by taking a few drops of vitamin D and calcium tablets.

What To Do

When visiting a friend in a city where a guest knows many people how will he plan to see these outsiders?

Answer—Naturally a guest who has many friends in town would like to accept invitations outside of her host's realm. She is perfectly free to do so, but she should discuss this first with her hostess, so that there will be no conflict. Very often your hostess will be included in these invitations and she may accept the invitations, even though the people are strangers to her.

If you are visiting a servantes home you should offer to help with the housework. If your hostess declines your help let the matter drop. It is still your duty to keep your hostess in order and make as little extra work as possible.

Men on the March—It's a Long Way to Tipperary, Son

Teddy bear suits with wide collar-hoods keep these members of an A.T.S. anti-aircraft gun crew plenty warm when winter winds blow in Britain.

Strange Faces, Stranger Weapons

This young would-be soldier of Britain is striding along with the best of them, but before long he may confine his marching activity to piggy-back riding on shoulders of one of the American soldiers.

Eileen Lorraine Ericson, of New York, went back to horse-and-buggy days for transportation to her wedding to Lieut. Bernard E. Neary. With her mother and attendants, she drove up to St. Patrick's Cathedral. The bride and bridegroom are pictured above as they departed after the ceremony.

Attractive Vancouver born Nancy Chinn displays an 18-lb. squash, with the slogan, "Victory—Buy War Savings Stamps", which is a reminder to all shoppers at Blackburn's Market in Vancouver, B.C. Early in the summer a Chinese gardener carved the slogan on a well-shaped baby squash growing on a Fraser Valley farm. As the squash grew the lettering did too.

In the Front Line With Men

With their men the women of Russia are in the front line. Many of them are snipers, such as the Russian girl illustrated here and the stories of their skill and courage in sniping at the enemy read almost like fiction.

Barrels Must Be Clean

The barrel of a firing weapon must be exceedingly clean when the commanding officer makes his inspection. Otherwise, the soldier risks a penalty. The C.O. of a reinforcement contingent of the Regiment de Maisonneuve in England, Lieut. Yvon David of Montreal, looks down the barrel of a weapon. Behind him are sergeants Ubal Theriault, Montreal, and Pierre Senneville, Montbeillard (Timiskaming). Others in the picture, left to right, are: Roland Fene, Rene Lamoureux, Montreal; Roland Tremblay, Abitibi; Raymond Cadorette, Shawinigan Falls, Que.; Edgar Paul, Lachute Mills, Que.; Gerard Labbe, Sault-au-récollet; Yvon Burelle, St. Jovite, Terrebonne County, Que.

Baby U.S. Tank Meets Its Biggest Brother

Their names are M5 and M6, but their weights are 44 tons apart. The 16-ton light tank, left, meets up with its cannon-toting big brother, the Army's new 60-ton heavy job, at Fort Knox, Ky.

The 19,000-Ton Aircraft Carrier Enterprise

Completed just before the beginning of World War II in 1939, the Enterprise is one of the U.S. Navy's newer carriers. It is the elder sister of the Hornet and the ill-fated Yorktown. Like other carriers, it is designed more as a weapon for use behind the main battle lines and is fast (34 knots) but less heavily armored than most warships. The Enterprise carries eight 5-inch guns, 32 anti-aircraft and machine guns. It normally carries 85 planes, but has space for over 100. The $25,000,000 vessel's 508-foot flight deck is nearly as long as three football fields. The Enterprise was laid down in July, 1934; launched in October, 1936, and completed in July, 1939. Japs claimed to have sunk this ship last December, but the report was unconfirmed.

"Most Bombed" Island

Streets of Malta piled high with masonry and rubble attest the terrific punishment this tiny stronghold has taken from the Axis aerial bombs. But the Maltese carry on, and, judging by the fat, sleek appearance of the cat in foreground, even manage to take good care of their pets.

Port Arthur Skipper in New Navy Picture

Captain of the corvette Port Arthur, Lieut. E. T. Simmons, D.S.C., is 27 years old and was formerly an interior decorator in Victoria, B.C. Last year when the Port Arthur was a brand new corvette a National Film Board camera crew accompanied her on her maiden voyage to film the picture "Action Stations". Even while she was performing for the camera the corvette was actually hunting submarines, but it was not until she reached the Mediterranean on the North Africa invasion that she drew first blood.

Officer Lauds Great Courage British People

"The courage of the British people never will be broken. They are wonderful. British courage did not crack under the heaviest raids and therefore British courage cannot crack." Capt. Max Freedman, educational adviser, Canadian Army Headquarters, London, told members of the Edmonton branch of the Independent Order of British in the Talmud Torah Hall Wednesday night.

He said the people of Great Britain were healthy, united, and could see victory on the horizon. According to medical authorities the country was better fed than ever in history. The variety was there, but good vitamins and was prominent, and disease epidemics unheard of.

Persuasion of Jews by Rumanians "can almost show the Germans a deeper cruelty than the world has ever known," Capt. Freedman stated. This persecution, he said, was more cruel than ever imagined. It was a slaughter.

He said there was no hope for survival of the Jewish people in Great Britain and the United States continued in world unity and the Jewish people took a fall part in the gigantic crusade to lift the curse of Hitler from the earth.

YARN FOR LETTERS
Capt. Freedman told the Jewish population of Edmonton that Edmontonian soldiers were "happy but homesick" for home and any little word from home. They want to return to Edmonton, but not one of them would return without the job has been secured.

Capt. Freedman, a former British liner educational department member, arrived here by Trans-Canada Air Lines on Wednesday. He is making a lecture tour through the provinces and will speak in many American cities during his tour, in Chicago, Detroit, Dallas, Texas, Pittsburgh, and New York. He will leave Thursday.

Laborite Elected In West Belfast

BELFAST, Feb. 11.—(CP)—John Beattie, laborer, former shipyard blacksmith and shipyard worker of the Ulster parliament, was elected yesterday to the British House of Commons. He defeated Sir C. Cunningham, Conservative, 13,000 to 14,476. Cunningham had the support of Prime Minister Churchill who, in a message to the Conservative candidate Sunday, called for "unity behind the National Government which has brought victory within our reach."

Two other candidates, W. M. Wilson, Independent Unionist, and H. C. Cochrane, Nationalist, polled 7,300 and 1,500 votes respectively. Beattie was a member of both the Ulster and Ulster branches of the Ulster unionist movement on several occasions has been the Northern Ireland parliament into an uproar by stating the case and throwing it to the floor when he failed to have motions on unemployment carried. Six years ago he was suspended from the Labor party but he was readmitted last year and elected chairman.

Oranges Scarce
VANCOUVER, Feb. 11.—(CP)—Fruit merchants here said they would be virtually without supplies of oranges for the next 15 days when fresh supplies are expected. Heavy rains in California which interrupted picking were blamed for the shortage.

persons can be carried out best under a system of private ownership which makes the individual responsible for the land under his hands, combined with a proper system of rewards for those using the land to the best purpose.

"Whereas ownership of land involves responsibility of the owner of all responsibility of the land on behalf of the people, and as such, he should be assured of security of tenure so long as his stewardship is satisfactory."

"And whereas the people should be protected from unrestricted exploitation of land, gambling in land values, monopoly control of the land, the evils of irresponsible absentee landlordism and other abuses inherent in the present system."

"Therefore it is resolved by the delegates of the Alberta Farmers Union in regular assembly that the government be requested, as an essential measure of reconstruction, to take the necessary steps for changing the constitution of the province to provide for a system of land tenure which will:

1.—Assure security of tenure to all owners and tenants of land.
2.—Include a provision to prevent gambling in land values, unrestricted exploitation of land by financial manipulation and the control of land by persons or corporations having no intention of using it for the public benefit.
3.—Protect debtor tenants against dispossession owing to circumstances over which they have no control.
4.—Ensure that owners will improve the benefit of all improvements they make and discourage the abuse of land or property by allowing it to deteriorate.
"And be it further resolved that before any legislative enactment to

Best Dressed Screen Star Sports Long Woollies-Borrowed and Men's

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Imagine Sofie Kay Francis wearing long red underwear (borrowed and men's) or a soldier's tropical shorts.
Hard as that may be, yesterday, while barnstorming over Great Britain and Africa entertaining American troops as one of a four-girl entertainment troupe, she wore both.

Only a doctor's order brought Miss Francis and Miss Mayfair, the dancer, home from the front lines.
There were six days and nights when Kay wore dubiously tailored slacks, the long underwear and feed-sack bottoms.

In Africa the troupe once took shelter in a captured German-built dugout while Nazi bombers overhead dropped their lethal loads.
Then, we came out, tin hats and all, powdered our noses, and the show went on," Miss Francis said casually.

establish such system of land tenure becomes effective it shall be submitted to a vote of the people by referendum.
The afternoon session of the convention also went on record with objection to a statement by W. E. Bailey, president of the Mortgage Lenders Association of Alberta. The statement was published Tuesday.

The statement contained this advice: "Honest debtors in the province never had any difficulty with their creditors," said Mr. Bailey.
The Farmers' Union branded this a thoroughly false and misleading statement, and an attack against the integrity of a very large number of farmers in Alberta.

It was resolved by the convention that a most emphatic protest be made against the statement of the Mortgage Lenders Association. The resolution added: "We condemn the statement, more than more than propaganda designed to misrepresent that large body of farmers who are suffering from the burden of an unpayable debt."

A rider attached to the resolution asks that the mortgage companies retract the statement.

ROUTINE DISCUSSIONS AT FARM CONVENTION
Wednesday afternoon sessions of the Alberta Farmers' Union centered largely around routine discussions of the mortgage companies and the organization. Election of officers and passage of resolutions occupied the remainder of delegates time.

Labeling, road conditions, accommodation for visiting delegates were factors discussed in the debate on convention date. While winter was the easiest time for delegates to give a week to convention matters, it was felt by many at the meeting that severity of weather more than tipped the balance in favor of a summer session. After long discussion, the matter was tabled, along with a resolution demanding each farmer be allowed to sell 1,000 bushels of wheat at $1.25 per bushel of delivery price, and a half of the membership fees, also tabled for further discussion.

DISCUSS FEES
Suggestions for fees ranged from $5 for husband and wife fees are currently $1 per membership to $10, and included suggestions to raise a price which would include a farmer's fee.
C. O. McGowan, former chairman of the organization, and a vice-president, led the meeting the time was coming when farmers must petition the government, and take direct action to enforce their demands.

Direct action, he stated, was a legal weapon, and other industrial organizations have used it with success. He felt farmers could also benefit by its use.
The convention, which concludes meetings Thursday, will be before it more than 150 resolutions to be discussed by the delegates. The resolutions committee will probably consider this number in the afternoon of the most important.

Dies Committee To Be Continued
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The House of Representatives voted yesterday to continue the Dies committee's investigation of the activities of the German spy ring for another two years. The committee was created in May, 1942, and is headed by Representative Martin Dies (Tex.-Rep.).

Farm Delegates Hear Address By President

William Arncliffe at Sedgewick, and in 1927 bought his present farm at Irma.

"I thought I bought it," he declared. "I will owe half of what I paid for it."
"The best years of my life I spent in Sedgewick—it was just 'Hank' who lived there then and when I was through for the day I was through. Then I bought a farm—and I never been through since."

NO "SQUARE DEAL"
In his address, Mr. Jackson declared the farmers of Alberta have not received a square deal.
"That is to say 10 per cent of the national income was received by farmers—one-third of the country's population received only a tenth of its income. We have allowed ourselves to be robbed in the most scientific manner ever devised."

The best men in the country, he stated, are now overseas fighting for us and they are not being fought for them.

"We must establish a democracy here where we can stand up and fight for it," he said. "The unfilled promises given our soldiers in the last war must not be repeated this time."

"I want to warn you of this promised new order," the speaker continued. "It is promised by those who have never been through the war. We will never get one until the people themselves make it."

Referring to the selective service regulations now in force, Mr. Jackson declared that they were organized by those who were originally intended. Selective Service should be put in the hands of the most good for the war effort.

He challenged any financial interest to show how the farm could be operated for less.

SAVORS AMALGAMATION
He hoped for an amalgamation with the United Farmers of Alberta, as a step in strengthening the farm of the province.
"The U.F.A." he concluded, "has done much for the farmer in the past. I think the farmers themselves or later they will be drawn together or pushed together. I will do everything in my power to bring the two organizations together."

Referring to the farm organization in 1938, and a president of the Irma group, United Farmers of Alberta (Western Division). He was elected a director of the National Farmers' Union of Canada, and a year ago he was elected a director of the National Farmers' Union of Canada.

He was a member of the delegation which went to Ottawa on the farm of the province. He was a fraternal delegate to last year's annual convention of the National Farmers' Union of Canada, where an amalgamation was discussed by the U.F.A. and the Alberta Farmers' Union.

The new president has four children: Albert, Edward, Arthur, and Isabelle. Mrs. Jackson is a member of the National Farmers' Union of Canada.

Getting Around

whole pound for the stricken customer.

It is really possible that just three herd years ago butter plagued warehouses from one end of Canada to the other with its surplus. It is really true that the surplus is now in the hands of the cream to hops and alongside the road, because the price they received for their products didn't justify the gasoline and tires used taking the fluid to the market.

Yes, we really live in a strange world.
Edmonton an ocean port of call? Don't laugh too hard. If the plan urged on the government by J. H. MacNeill, M.P. for Toronto might be an important one to an inland waterways system that would serve the prairie west, but the whole continent of North America.

Mr. MacNeill is urging the government to seriously consider a waterway system, more gigantic than any yet undertaken in Canada. It would be a three-foot draft canal, it would supply enormous hydro energy for power, and it would permit utilization of the waters of the prairie west in the world. Best would carry heavy loads of freight along the border of the Canadian west.

The third purpose behind such a development would be, in a sense, the most important of all.
It would reduce the effective area of the steady progress of desertification in the north central area of North America. Engineers have been pointing out for years that only a gigantic hydrological development, carefully and scientifically planned, will save the prairie west from eventual desertification.

Water table in the western plains was raised again to what it was when the buffalo were undisputed lords of the prairies.
A project, such as Mr. MacNeill urges, will eventually be undertaken. It should be a part of the post-war plan of rehabilitation.
